INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS AGREEMENT REACHED WITH FLIGHT ATTENDANTS

Skywest, the Australian and South East Asia regional airline operator, announces that it has reached a landmark three year collective agreement with the Flight Attendants Association of Australia (FAAA). The new agreement provides for definitive salary and allowance increases for all Flight Attendants, back pay, the introduction of new allowances and other additional rostering and leave benefits.

The Company's view is that the agreement is a positive outcome for all concerned. It provides a good balance of increases in remuneration and rostering benefits for all Skywest's Flight Attendants and gives the Company certainty and predictability in its rostering arrangements.

Skywest already has in place collective agreements concerning its pilots and engineers, therefore with this agreement the Company now has predictable arrangements with the majority of its workforce.

As a result of this agreement and the growth in the Company, Skywest will immediately recruit for an additional number of new Flight Attendant positions in order that its operational growth may be maintained. Skywest continues to recruit pilots and engineering employees.
